ANNUAL RISING OF RIVERS .- The Nile begins to rise in June, and attains 24 to 28 feet of elevation in the middle of August, and then floods the valley of Egypt, 12 miles wide. The Ganges rises from April to August 32 feet, and then creates a flood 100 miles wide. The Euphrates rises between March and June 12 feet, and covers the Babylonian plains.

MARRYING ACROSS A RIVER .- A corresponden of the Staunton Spectator states that the Rev. M. Brown, of Bath county, Virginia, married a couple a few days since across a river-that is the parson was on one side and the bride groom and his dulcinea on the other. This mode was resorted to on account of the water being impassable. The license was thrown across the stream by the bridegroom, after having wrapped it tightly around a stone."

The time for taking cold is after taking exercise; the place is in your own house, or office, or worst policy to treat with the consideration and counting room. It is not the act of exercise respect of a reply. which gives the cold; but it is the getting cool too quick after exercising. For example you walk very fast, to get to the railroad station; or to the ferry; or to catch an omnibus; or to make time for an appointment; your mind being ahead of you, the body makes an extra effort to keep up with it; and when you get to the desired spot, you raise your hat and find yourself in a perspiration; you take a seat, and feeling in a perspiration; you take a seat, and feeling quite comfortable as to temperature, you begin to talk with a friend; or, if a New Yorker, to read a newsparse of the most flourishing State in the Union, and the fact hardly elicits comment. It is accepted as the most natural thing in the world. These read a newspaper; and before you are aware of it, you experience a sensation of chilliness, and the thing is done! You look around to open near you, or a door, or that you have signs at least that the dangers which have ruintaken a seat at the forward part of the car, ed society in the past, still exist in full force and it moving against the wind, a strong draft is made through the crevices. Or, may be you met a friend at a street corner who wanted a loan, and was quite complimentary, almost loving; you did not like to be rude in the delivery of the two lettered monosyllable; and while that, in the lapse of the next ten years, it will

A Mormon Elder has been elected Chaplain of the State of California. It is as well to pitched into the mud, or spilled out in the make a note of this, as one of the way marks which indicate the progress of Mormonism in

Very young men recollect the first publication of the book of Mormon; in the boyhood of the youngest citizen that has a beard on his face, the Mormons were a sect too contemptible to excite even curiosity; now the Mormons have already in our midst a large independent community, purely Mormon, and which, before long, will be demanding admission to the Union as a Mormon State. In Calfornia, their mlders have self, and theu worrying yourself into a per- a position and influence; the Christian ministers there cannot afford to treat them with contempt, but are compelled by force of public opinion, as well as by a sense of duty, to meet them in public debate and attempt the serious refutation of errors, which, five years ago, were met with are all the time telling us how they "caught a smile of pity or a sneer of contempt, and which, unless they were actually gaining considerable ground it would be of course, the

 Too Sweer .- Perhaps there is not a more offensive feature of dandyism, than over scenting with high flavored sweets. As the Scotch proverb has it, it is over sweet to be wholesome, An amusing rebuke of this vulgar habit was given at Niagara, last summer, which is worthy of preservation:
